Ministry Report ~ by Kirk

We include our prayer card with this Christmas newsletter (in case we have not yet delivered it by hand) along with our heartfelt thanks to you and warm wishes for a very Merry Christmas and a Blessed

New Year. It also serves as our personal invitation to schedule a missionary service or appointment next year. Itineration ministry allows us to raise prayer and financial support needed on the mission field, and in the US. We recently requested prayer for safe travel during itineration and God answered. The family was protected when an eight-point buck totaled Chloe's car.

It's true we need to raise cash and monthly support during a challenging economy, yet what really motivates us and is spiritually satisfying is seeing young lives sold out for Jesus. One young person has supported us as "his missionaries" from church for years now and I got to thank him face to face. Another Kids Camper shared with us the painful scars from sin and bad choices right alongside of a newfound determination to follow Christ's call to become a missionary.

Family Report ~ by Yvonne

Chloe graduated from Evangel U. & Cox College of Nursing in May and passed her NCLEX board exams in July. She is now a registered nurse and loves caring for people working full-time at Cox Hospital

South.

Anthony is in his sophomore year at Evangel U. He has been a business major but will be changing to Elementary Ed. with a minor in Spanish and Teaching English as a Second Language. Maybe he'll end up in the mountains of Duíma, Panamá one day.

Celina is enjoying her freshman year at Pepperdine U. even while studying Biology. She has a work/study job tutoring pre-school kids, and gets to practice her Spanish with parents.

Gracie is a freshman at Kickapoo High School. She's involved in the youth group at James River Wilson's Creek campus and has an adorable guinea pig named Ronn.

PRAYER: during itineration to raise budget so more Panamanian children can know Jesus.

PRAISE: for God's continued protection traveling.

UPCOMING: ongoing itineration ministry and Missionary in Residence at Evangel U. (2013-14).
